Rev. Terry Cummings speaking on “Words for the Wise.”

Words for the Wise.

In the Book of Proverbs, it is written that “He who walks with the wise will become wise, but the companion of fools will be destroyed.” In honor of Mother’s Day, we will celebrate Sophia, the feminine figure associated with wisdom and knowledge. “Sophia,” in Greek, means wisdom. Please join us for our service on Sunday May 11th as Rev. Terry Cummings reflects on the distinction between wisdom (Sophia) and folly (Insipientia) during a time of uncertainty. And, of course, we will also celebrate mothers of all kinds.

Sun May 25

Donald Mace Williams will be speaking on “Poetry - Our Lives Depend on It.”

And in June we will discuss, “The Tsar of Love and Techno” by Anthony Marra.

If you have other recommendations, send them to Cylvia and Mary and we will revisit the list in May. Happy Reading!!!

A Note From Mike Ig, Author of the New & Improved

“Navigating Our Future Challenges: Facing the Dangers of Collapse and Paths to a Hopeful Future”

We are living at one of the most critical turning points in human history.

Accelerating technologies—artificial intelligence, biotechnology, climate engineering, and more—are reshaping our world at a breathtaking pace. These powerful forces bring extraordinary opportunities for progress, but also profound risks that could destabilize societies or even threaten our survival.

To navigate this uncertain future, we must move beyond outdated narratives and embrace a new vision—one grounded in wisdom, cooperation, and shared responsibility.

This book explores the urgent need for a new Enlightenment — an "Enlightenment 2.0" — rooted in values that emphasize stewardship of the global commons, responsible innovation, and a hopeful, forward-looking story for humanity.

Clear, thought-provoking, and deeply relevant, this is a guide for anyone who wants to understand the stakes of our time — and help shape a future worth living in.
