For our Food for Thought meeting, we will watch Rev. Todd Elklof's sermon on "Gadflyism", which he just gave on April 23, 2023. His talk is a good reminder of why we as a religion, and we as a society need gadflies. After watching this, we will discuss. The link below is to the YouTube video of the UU Church of Spokane's Sunday service. The sermon goes from 41:18 to 1:04:38, about 23 minutes. You don't need to watch it before the meeting.

Bulletin 3: A new discussion has been posted on the Fifth Principle Project website: All White People Are Racist

Discussion Excerpt

Introduction: We are presenting another installment of stories by UUs impacted by the current intolerance that has swept the denomination. We feel it is important that the true human cost suffered by intolerance should be known. We included several such stories in Used to Be UU. In October 2022, we published a similar personal account ... Read more

Open Hearts & Minds Fellowship Values

We believe in making the world a better place by treating each other well and working for the common good.

Within Ourselves

We work to become better, kinder, and more heart-centered people.

We value reason, critical thinking, intuition, and emotional awareness.

We treat ourselves with kindness, realizing we are not perfect.

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

We nurture the human spirit through acceptance, forgiveness, kindness, and mercy.

We celebrate our joys and support one another in times of sorrow.

With Others

We believe in the potential for good in every person.

We listen with compassion and encourage justice, equity, and cooperation in human relationships.

We support transparent governance, the democratic process, and freedom of conscience.

With the Earth and Our Future

We work for the common good and nurture our global community.

We are part of something much bigger than ourselves and recognize the miracles of everyday life.

We acknowledge the sacredness of the Earth and our responsibility to cherish and protect it for future generations.

Our Weekly Events Email (WEE!) normally goes out Tuesday evenings. Please send your announcements to info@ohmfellowship.org by Monday evening at the latest. Thank you.
